

If your Acura is not equipped with SiriusXM, you can still listen through the SiriusXM app!

Get access to a personalized and easier-to-use content discovery streaming experience on the SiriusXM app. Now, customers can get even closer to what they love with “always-on” curation, a personalized library, improved podcast listening, enhanced search, and greater content discovery. Plus, they’ll be able to tune into a podcast, interview, or sports game and pick up where they left off across devices.

1 Tastepicking

Customers can tailor their experience at sign-on by selecting artists, genres, personalities, leagues, and topics, then browse through and sample channel recommendations with a simple swipe.

2 Always-On Personalization & Curation

The app will now welcome them with four curated sections: Music, Talk & Podcasts, Sports, and For You.

3 Central Audio Library

Listeners can now save the content they love—from live channels to on-demand and podcasts, from artists and bands to teams and leagues—in one centralized location, with new offline listening and download capabilities sample channel recommendations with a simple swipe.

4 Improved Podcast Listening

Podcasting now features an expanded library and new features such as key moment markers.

5 Pivoting

Personalized touch points will greet users across the app experience – even during playback, where listeners who reach their skip limits will be presented with alternative recommendations, allowing them to pivot to content better suited to their mood.

6 Enhanced Search

Upgraded search capabilities will make it easier for users to quickly find who or what they are looking for, while the addition of a new search home page will provide curated recommendations for listeners who are looking to discover more.
